

The allotment garden exhibition took place in the Hirschstetten flower gardens from 20th – 22nd April.

An exceptional ambiance characterised the flower gardens Hirschstetten where the 14th allotment gardens exhibition was organised from April 20th – 22nd.

100 exhibitors presented (nearly) everything that makes an allotment gardener's heart beat faster. So, at the beginning of the gardening season the allotment gardeners and gardening amateurs could find information and tips, see innovations and gather new ideas.

The most prominent allotment gardener from Vienna, the actual town councillor and future mayor of Vienna Michael Ludwig, personally opened the exhibition. Both professional exhibitors and voluntary organisations, among them of course the central allotment federation, were present.

This regular annual venue of same-minded people was also this year a great success.
