

Technical support in Germany

The German allotment federation (BDG) helps its members and interested hobby gardeners

In the series “Grüne Schriftenreihe” the German allotment garden federation publishes every year the contents of its educational programme. These documents are destined to be spread among the members of the organised allotment garden movement. Subjects concerning allotment gardens as for example: gardening advice, law on associations, management of associations as well as the environment – are documented in this series and are also at the disposal of interested hobby gardeners. The documents from 2014 can be found under www.kleingarten-bund.de/publikationen.
