

Nature alert.

The European Commission considers “modernizing” the directives concerning the protection of nature. There is a risk of a weakening of the existing protection.

There is a vast public consultation on Internet until July 17th.

More than 100 organisations in 28 European Union member countries take part in order to avoid a weakening of the existing nature protection directives.

As appendix you find the petition and the necessary background information.

It would be appropriate if as many federations and allotment gardeners as possible could support the request to safeguard the directives on nature protection (Bird protection directive, Fauna and Flora Habitat directive) as they exist today.

Therefore the call : Take action!
