

The European allotment gardeners became member of Europa Nostra

Following a decision of the general assembly, the International Office asked on 14th March 2013 for membership in Europa Nostra.

Europa Nostra is a pan-European organisation aiming at protecting Europe's cultural and natural heritage for today's and future generations.

Europa Nostra campaigns against the many threats to Europe's cultural and natural heritage. When monuments or sites are in danger by uncontrolled development, environmental change, neglect or conflict, Europa Nostra raises its voice. Cooperation and solidarity between organisations that are active in the area of cultural and natural heritage are vital to ensure that witnesses of our past will be safeguarded and will remain visible.

The network is composed of 250 member organisations, 150 associated organisations and 1,500 individual members.

On 30th May 2013 we were informed that the International Office has been granted membership in Europa Nostra.

Link: www.europanostra.org